SECOND READING: 2 Peter 1:16-19 ·

Alleluia!

GOSPEL: Matthew 17:1-9

COMMUNION ANTIPHON:

When Christ appears, we shall be like him,
for we shall see him as he is.

REFLECTION:

In this week’s Gospel, Jesus offers three more short parables. They describe the great value of the kingdom of heaven. In the first parable, Jesus says that the kingdom of heaven is like a buried treasure that is worth possessing even if it means giving up everything else. In the second parable, Jesus proposes that the kingdom of heaven is like a pearl of great worth for which one will sell everything else to possess. These parables teach us that we are to place everything we value in the service of the pursuit of the Kingdom of God. Just as people can be consumed by worldly pursuits, it is essential to be primarily focused on the kingdom of God and prioritise it above all else. We are encouraged to focus on the rule and reign of God in our lives, finding joy and peace in this pursuit, and ultimately, becoming agents of change in the world.

we celebrate National Vocations Awareness Week from Aug 5/6 until Aug 12/13. The theme of the first weekend is that every baptized Christian has a vocation and is called to holiness of life and to participate in the life and mission of the Church.

We acknowledge the calling to Marriage and Family Life, the Single Life and Lay Ministry in the Church. It's on the second weekend that we specify this baptismal call further and celebrate and pray for an increase in the Vocations of the Priesthood, Diaconate and the Consecrated Life.

~ The Curate's Corner ~ A theology of the Home

You can't really turn on the television anymore without some program about building homes, or buying homes, or renovating homes popping up. And often the desire is for a new start, for a less cluttered life. There's a recognition that our lives sometimes feel like they're out of our control, or at least passing us by without real enjoyment and we want to do something about it. And it's true our lives are chaotic. There's rarely a time without something making a noise, and then there's all the activities we take the children too: football, dancing, tutoring, the list goes on. And the result is not commonly freedom but anxiety. It's like we're at the mercy of our circumstances. Just think how anxiety inducing it can be to walk into a living room with nothing but a tower of clutter, or how a kitchen full of dirty dishes make us want to run to the bathroom, hoping someone else will come and wash up. This is why order and routine in our home is so important, it allows us to be free. Just think that a pianist can't compose new music without first mastering the basics and then the works of many others. In the same way a beautiful home requires consistent attention to mastering the little details. But this is about much more than just having a clean home, it's about openness to God. If we've swept the floors, washed, and put away the breakfast dishes, we're now free to raise our hearts and minds to something higher. Grace can only build on nature, and its grace that makes our nature soar. One Catholic writer speaking of artists, said, "sanctity alone doesn't make a man a great painter, but when a great painter is also a saint, when he allows the Holy Spirit to supernaturalise the natural genius with which he has been blessed, then his art achieves that matchless purity." Sure, we're not all artists, but our ordinary lives, our desires and talents are the canvas ready to be transformed by grace. Wanting to seek God is a reflection of a deeper and more profound order within our soul, an order that frees us of distraction and attachments so that we might strive for constancy with God.

Practical tips

Buy good quality! When it comes to clothing, furniture, kitchen appliances or basically anything the temptation is to have more. But fast fashion and cheaply produced products have little power to capture the imagination. It's craftsmanship that speaks of the eternal and helps us to fulfill our potential. One high quality thing is much more useful, long lasting, and enjoyable to use, than dozens of cheap and nasty things. So, let's think about how we can treasure the little we do have rather than accumulate much of what we don't really want.
